

Overview

Intrado Studio Webcasts and Virtual Events offer numerous, robust localization options, including live translation and interpretation capabilities, closed captioning, and content customizations. Engage your attendees by allowing them to select from one of our 20 language options – enhancing your communication capabilities and tailoring your message to a global audience.

Multilingual Live Audio Support

Bring your own live audio interpreter, and allow your attendees to select their preferred language directly within the webcast platform. Seamless switching delivers your message more accurately and effectively, from one single webcast location.

Multilingual Slide Support

Attendees can view slide content in their preferred language based on the options available to them. With 20 languages to choose from, you can ensure that you are communicating effectively with global audiences from one single webcast location.

Closed Captioning

Enable your attendees to select languages from a provided list of options. Choose which languages you'd like to support, and we'll set up services with our closed captioning provider. Your audience can select their preferred language from a drop-down list, and captions will be displayed onscreen in real-time.

Additional Localization Options

There are a variety of different ways to customize webcasts and virtual events based on language preferences and geographical locations. Our Webcasts and Virtual Events platforms can be designed according to local specifications and translated into 20 different languages. Your audience will feel like they're home, even if you're hosting an event from across the world.
